

Save Huey P. Long Pool

HPL Pool in its glory days.

HPL Pool as it sits today.

Many of you may not know that the Huey P. Long Fieldhouse's Pool facility has been closed for the past 7 years. It has fallen into dismal disrepair, and it is disappointing to see this unique building be not only shut off from today's student-body, but be allowed to completely decay before our very eyes! This building is in crisis as evident by the photos above. The memories of this once unique and great facility has been relegated to a small tree growing where the bulkhead once hung. Not only does this pool hold a great amount of history for the LSU Tiger Swim Team, but the building as a whole is very special indeed.

Some fast facts on the HPL Fieldhouse pool:

- One of the original buildings on the LSU Campus, named after the man who helped build the LSU campus.
- Built in 1932 by the same architects that designed the Louisiana State Capital.
- On both the State and National registers of historic buildings.
- Was unique in the country and ahead of its time. Architecture, gutter flow, etc...
- Was the longest pool in the country at its time. A proud designation for LSU.
- Originally the water was furnished from artesian wells.

At this point in time, the Foundation for Historical Louisiana (www.fhl.org) is working to partner with LSU to raise funds for rescuing this building. Would you partner with the LSU swim team and help start a campaign to restore the Huey P. Long pool? Let's honor the proud traditions and memories that began with this original LSU building by donating today towards the Pool's renovation and restoration through the Foundation for Historical LA organization. (225-387-2464)

When you make out your donation to FHL be sure to put "HPL Pool Project" in the memo section of your check—and receive a t-shirt commemorating the HPL pool. To complete this task it will take an enormous amount of help from more than just the swimming family of LSU, but WE can set the ball in motion and begin to generate a momentum that will sweep through the alumni body of the University as a whole.

Thank you in advance for your concern and support.
